ABOUT THE INDIANA NEUROLOGICAL SOCIETY

The Indiana Neurological Society (INS) was founded in 1965 for the purpose of promoting advancements in Neurology.

The primary goals of the INS are:

- Continuing Medical Education
Presentation of new information important to neurology practice and research.
- Neurology Practice in Indiana
Discussion of the practice of neurology in Indiana, including the discussion of and recommendations for practice standards for neurology.
- Education of Others
Education of the public regarding the role of neurologists and practice of neurology; stimulation of the interest in medical students and others, and the furtherance of their education in neurology.
- Personal Contact
Renewal, initiation and maintenance of personal contacts among the members.

To serve these goals, the INS offers an annual educational meeting to provide an update on important issues in neurology to Indiana neurologists as well as providing an opportunity for Indiana neurologists to network and exchange ideas.
